

Company Introduction

Sunlike Technology Co. Ltd., is a professional cable and electronic accessories for mobile device manufacturer, located in Shenzhen City, Guangdong Province, China.

We continue to be dedicated in the development and manufacture of quality HiFi Audio/Video cables, mobile device cables, electronic accessories for mobile device. Unlike offers OEM & ODM services.

When it comes to the products materials, Unlike bases the pursuit of extremely high quality raw materials on the technical support and platform of the Lanzhou University of Technology. Our "only the best will do" philosophy, guarantees rigorous, unique and extremely high grade products.

Our R&D team has many years of experience in the design and manufacturing of a variety of cables and electronic accessories for mobile devices. Many well known top level brands use Unlike design technology.

Unlike has invested heavily in high quality state of the art manufacturing and test equipment. This not only ensures world class quality assurance products, but enables us to continue being innovative in the design and implementation of new products in the cables and electronics industry. Our unique designs and high quality assurance attracts a range of reputable customers from Asia, America, Europe and Australia. In addition to our international success we have produced products for the China mainland as well, including some of the biggest projects. For example: the A/V cables for the China National Theatre, the China National Convention Centre and the Peoples Republic of China National Day Military Parade 60 years celebration.

Sunlike also attracts some of the very best talent from both China and overseas, and has now assembled a world class elite team in all departments including R&D, quality control, systems management, production and marketing.

We hold the strong belief of a people oriented company. The best people will always produce the best products. The future of our business is our continued growth with the addition of even more highly qualified, dedicated and innovative people joining our team. Our philosophy is welcomed by our customers who share the expectation of a high quality product and world class support, which results in five star end user satisfaction ... and of course this is the formula for not just our long term development, but also for the continued success of our customers in their respective markets.