One-Piece Tag

This patented one-piece tag adopts our patented locking design, which left no footprint on garments. The tag has an invisible integrated pin, is designed with a press post that holds the garments securely after locking, preventing it from snagging or tearing garments and stopping pin holes from expanding after long-time display. This tag has an integrated pin to reduce the application process from two steps to one, which helps save labor cost and improve checkout efficiency. Also avoid body injury caused by pins. The opening in the middle of the tag is wide enough to hold something a little thicker, especially for winter apparel. In addition, it integrates EAS and RFID together, and many different specifications can be made to meet different needs.
